Bomb Ship In Air Raid

SHANGHAI, CHINA — (UP) — The 9,000-ton British Blue Funnel liner Anchises was bombed and strafed during a nationalist air raid on Shanghai today.

Agents for the vessel in Hong Kong said the ship was beached at Woosung at the mouth of the Whangpoo just north of Shanghai, after the attack.

(The Ocean Steamship company of Liverpool, England, owners of the vessel, announced that four of the 67-man crew were injured in the attack.)

Meanwhile, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek will return to public life to help direct nationalist China's struggle against the communists, Premier Yen Hsi-Shan disclosed today.

Chiang will be chief of the Kuomintang's new supreme policy council, Yen said.

He emphasized that Chiang would not resume an active government position. However, the Kuomintang is the government party and Chiang in his new post will have a decisive voice in deciding the nationalists' future policy.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Warner and Swasey company's 1,800 striking employes in Cleveland awaited today company reaction to a union proposal to end the firm's six-month wage and contract dispute pending arbitration.

It Was Hot And He Was Just Resting

It was hot and he was tired, so he wanted to rest.

That's what a Boyle road man told sheriff's deputies when they found him lying along Bowman street near the Pennsylvania railroad about 8:15 p. m. yesterday.

Officers were called to the scene by a woman who thought the man was ill or dead.

The surprised "victim" explained he had just decided to rest. Officers told him to do his resting at home.

Charge Pair With Aiding Bandits

Mother, Son Held To Grand Jury

A Rittman woman and her son have been accused of "harboring and concealing" James Perry, 55, one of two men charged with staging a daylight hold up of the North Fairfield bank and escaping with $2,731 in cash.

Mrs. Della Watts, 55, and her son, Willard, 26, were held to Wayne county grand jury action today under $1,500 bonds.

Meanwhile FBI authorities and police continue their search of the Rittman area for the two men.

It is alleged Mrs. Watts and her son aided Perry to hide himself in a wooded area near Rittman last Wednesday morning, two days after the North Fairfield robbery. The other man sought for the robbery is Paul Boyer, 17, of Rittman.

Mrs. Watts admitted receiving $650 of the bank loot from one

One of three other persons arrested for aiding the men was released yesterday following an investigation.

Following the daylight robbery a posse that at times numbered 300 combed the Wooster area for the two men. Bloodhounds were used.

Downtown Lights Will Be Amber

All of Mansfield's downtown traffic lights will stay on amber from 9 p. m. to midnight tonight while a switch in controls is made from the fire department to the new control room in the city building.

Safety-Service Director Earl T. Garrison said City Electrician Ernest Adams would make the final switch, beginning at 9 p.m.

The traffic light change is part of the city's program to have a central control over all fire alarms, traffic lights and electrical equipment operated by the city.

Installation of the equipment was begun at the first of the year and will continue for some months, Adams said.

'Night-Riders' Face Charges

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (INS) — Police and local civic groups moved today for a crackdown on the hooded night-riders who have fostered a reign of terror in the Birmingham area.

First step was the arrest of Rowcow Fowler, of nearby Sumiton, who was charged with assault and battery in connection with the beating of Clarks Stallworth, a Birmingham post reporter investigating the night-rider's flogging raids.

Also arrested and released on $300 bond in connection with Stallworth's beating was Glenn Godfrey of Sumiton. He was accused of assault with a weapon.

Driver Loses Race To Hospital

Baby Girl Born In Speeding Cab

"It's here!"

Those words and the cry of a new-born baby told Howard Thrush, driver for the Arrow Cab company, that his trip to General hospital this morning had not been quite fast enough.

Thrush, who had been a cab driver since last September, said today he'd had some mighty close calls before but this was the first time his cab had ever been turned into a delivery room.

The baby girl who was born in Thrush's cab shortly before 8:40 a. m. today is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Carter, 70 Bushnell street. Both mother and daughter were reported doing fine at General Hospital today.

Thrush went to the Carter home about 8:30 a. m. and picked up Mrs. Carter and an older woman. Mrs. Carter was dressed in a robe, and the older woman urged the driver to hurry.

Thrush did his best as he heard moans from the rear seat, but he hit every red light along the way. Just as he was about to pull into the hospital entrance he heard the words and the cry of the baby.

Being new at this sort of thing, the driver did not know just what he was supposed to do. So he pulled up at the emergency door and two nurses came out to take over.

The baby's father arrived at his home just as the cab was pulling away from the door.

TOO LATE—Howard Thrush, 41 North Foster street, driver for the Arrow Cab company, stands beside his cab in which a girl was born this morning, just as Thrush reached the entrance to General hospital.

He followed in his truck and arrived at the hospital in time to help put his wife on a stretcher.

Thrush asked the father if he was nervous and when he said "No", Thrush replied, "Well, I sure am."

It was the second child for the Carters, both girls. The cab driver said the father's face fell slightly when he learned he had another daughter.

Thrush is married and the father of three children, all of them boys, but he did not have to assist with any of their births.

Reds Seize Churchmen

Tension Mounting In Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE — (AP) — Church-state tension mounted today as the communist government was reported seizing Roman Catholic opponents in Moravia.

Churchmen reported numerous clergy and prominent laymen arrested in that province, near the Austrian and Hungarian border junction.

One source reported, without confirmation, that Archbishop Josef Matocha of Olomouc, second city of Moravia, had been placed under a police watch like that maintained for the past five days over archbishop Josef Beran of Prague.

Reports of the arrests followed a hectic week end which saw a pastoral letter from Beran read in churches throughout the country denouncing the separatist Catholic action group sponsored by the government, and the break-up of the Archbishop's sermon in Prague by communist heckling.

The Moravian arrests were made, church sources said, to crack resistance of loyal Catholics to the separatist group. They said those arrested, whose number could not be estimated, had refused to sign pledges of allegiance to the new organization.

The Vatican, meanwhile, denounced the group as "schismatic, anti-Catholic, a communist tool and in opposition to the episcopate."

Lightning Bolt Destroys Home

Ontario Opens Drive To Aid Fire Victims

Merchants of nearby Ontario today launched a drive to raise funds which they hope will give a fresh start to a young couple and baby whose home, personal belongings and furniture—and even the cash for the monthly house payment—were consumed by fire started by a bolt of lightning.

Charles Hardy, 23, an Army veteran, had proudly moved his wife, Daisy, and six-month-old daughter, Deborah, into the new frame dwelling near Ontario on Jan. 1. Hardy had not been able to pay cash for the house, and he was buying the 70 acres on which it was located. But the move provided them a home, and Hardy was confident he could retire the obligations gradually.

Hardy was laid off on April 1 from the Mansfield Westinghouse plant where he was employed on the range assembly line. This was a handicap, but Hardy still felt he could manage the necessary payments on the property, having secured employment in construction work.

Then on Sunday evening, while the Hardys were visiting Mrs. Hardy's parents, 773 Lexington road, in Mansfield, a bolt of lightning struck their house. A neighbor, Mrs. Hobart Ridenour, of Mansfield R. D. 3, heard the sharp crack of lightning, and realized it had hit nearby. Soon smoke could be seen pouring from the Hardy home.

Efforts to call the Springfield township fire department here were futile, due to busy phone lines. A passing motorist, Charles Hardacre, was flagged down. He drove into Ontario to notify the fire volunteers an hour after the blaze had started. It had gained such headway it could not be extinguished. Only the chimney remains at the burned-out home site.

Hardy said the house was partially insured, but not the contents. Damage to the house was estimated at $5,000 by Hardy.

The Hardys are staying with the Emersons in Mansfield as local merchants encourage contributions to assure the return of the young family to their Sherman road place. The house was a five-room, two-story frame building.

Stork Active As 13 Babies Arrive In Day

Nurses and doctors at General hospital were wishing this morning the stork serving the Mansfield area wasn't quite such a hard worker.

Thirteen babies were born at General hospital yesterday, and three more had arrived before noon today. These, plus the seven who arrived as Father's day gifts, were keeping attendants in the maternity ward too busy to even comment on the situation.

The nursery has approximately 30 beds and was almost filled to capacity this morning.

Seven boys and six girls were born at the hospital yesterday, and two boys and a girl this morning.

134 Dead In Wake Of Storm

Typhoon Lashes South Japan

TOKYO — (INS) — At least 134 persons were killed on Kyushu island by a typhoon and accompanying torrential rains that devastated wide portions of southern Japan today.

Additional scores of lives were feared lost at sea as winds reaching velocities of more than 100 miles an hour sank 55 Japanese vessels and damaged 26 others.

Another 56 vessels, with 372 crewmen aboard, were listed as missing in turbulent seas off Shikoku island, situated between Kyushu and Japan's main island of Honshu.

The official casualty figures for Kyushu were announced today by national police headquarters in Tokyo.

On southern Kyushu alone the number of the injured ran into the scores. Kyushu, the southernmost of Japan's islands, was hit hardest.

2 U. S. SHIPS HIT

With destructive fury the typhoon, named "Della" by U. S. Army weathermen, shrieked across Kyushu, Shikoku and southern Honshu and then veered northeastward over the Sea of Japan.

At least two American vessels were run aground yesterday as the violent storm swept across Okinawa and headed for Japan.

Army headquarters said the LST Q-005 was forced onto a reef outside Okinawa's Naha harbor. She was badly damaged and taking water but there were no casualties among the Japanese crew manning the vessel.

The Pacific Far East lines' refrigerator ship Lightning also went aground 150 miles west of Okinawa, but she was declared to be out of danger.

Off Yushu the isle of Yakushima, which has a population of 20,000, was completely flooded by the typhoon-caused downpour.

Babich Gets Life Term

MILWAUKEE — (UP) — Milton Babich, 19, began serving a life sentence today for murdering Patricia Birmingham, 16, to conceal that he made her sister Kathleen, 18 pregnant out of wedlock.

Babich, a handsome former high school honor student, was raced to the Wisconsin state prison at Waupun early today, less than three hours after a jury of 10 men and two women found him guilty of first degree murder.

The slight, olive-skinned youth stood rigid and grim last night as Judge Herbert J. Steffes handed him the mandatory sentence required by the conviction — life imprisonment. He turned pale when the conviction was announced but won back composure quickly.

The judge added the words "at hard labor" to make his sentence stiffer.

Wisconsin has no death penalty.

Uranium Reported Missing

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The congressional atomic committee today is investigating a report that a supply of atom bomb uranium is missing from the United States laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The disclosure of a new atom mystery comes on the heels of the loss of 32 grams of uranium 235 at the Atomic Energy commission's Argonne laboratory in Chicago.

The amount of the missing vital material at Oak Ridge is reported to be many times larger than was involved in the Chicago case.

DENY CHARGE

Commission officials are understood to have denied flatly that there has been any loss or disappearance of uranium at the Oak Ridge plant.

Instead, they are said to have attributed the reported discrepancies to technical difficulties involved in measurements of the uranium.

The material reportedly is in many different forms and in some cases too "hot" radioactively for any accurate analysis.

In its inquiry into the report of the missing U-235, the committee today summoned Oak Ridge officials of the AEC and of Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation, which operates the plant on contract.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., chairman of the joint atomic committee, announced only that today's conference, concerned "accountability procedures" at Oak Ridge. He declined to elaborate further.

Vote Asked On Tax Levy

Schools Seek Renewal In November

The Mansfield board of education will ask voters to approve renewal of a three-mill school levy at the November election.

Board Clerk John H. Eisaman last night was authorized to ask the board of elections to place the levy proposal on the ballot.

The levy, which was voted for five years, expires Dec. 3.

The board pointed out that the tax provides a large part of the city schools' operating funds. Last year's revenue from the levy was $212,335.

The levy is a tax in excess of the regular 10-mill limitation. The county budget commmittee sets the regular 10-mill levy and any levy in excess of that must be voted.

The board last night authorized Eisaman to advertise a budget statement for the year. The budget will be on file in the clerk's office at John Simpson Junior high school when it is completed this week.

Truman Picks Woman Envoy

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Truman today named the first woman envoy of his administration to be minister to Luxembourg.

The President nominated Mrs. Perle Mesta, a Washington hostess to Luxembourg.

Mrs. Mesta, who has attained renown in Washington for her social gatherings, takes over the post vacated by the nomination of Adm. Alan Kirk as United States ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Mansfield Union Men In Pittsburgh

Two officials of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Local 711, CIO, were among union officials attending contract negotiations with the Westinghouse Electric corporation at Pittsburgh. Negotiations began today.

Representing the Mansfield union were Joseph T. Hawkins, president of the local, and James Young, first vice president. The union seeks wage increases which it estimates will total $500 per member per year.

Confers With Acheson

Results Seen As 'Limited'

WASHINGTON — President Truman announced today that he will make public the report on the Paris Big Four foreign ministers meeting given to him by Secretary of State Acheson.

Mr. Truman made the announcement at the Washington National airport where he greeted the secretary of state on his arrival from Paris. Acheson arrived at National airport at 11:10 a. m. EDT after a nonstop flight from the French capital.

As he stepped from the plane, Acheson remarked:

"I don't think we really accomplished too much."

The chief executive and Acheson went immediately to the White House to discuss the outlook in the cold war with Russia in the light of results of the Big Four meeting.

NOT OPTIMISTIC

It was expected that both the President and the secretary of state would emphasize that the limited and nebulous agreements arrived at with the Soviet Union do not justify to much optimism.

In London, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and a Soviet spokesman agreed that the Big Four conference has provided a basis for east-west cooperation.

"The foundation has been laid—we must now proceed to build upon it . . . the communique was most brief, but opened the possibilities for cooperation together once again."

Brig. Gen. Frank L. Howley, U. S. military commandant in Berlin expressed the view that the Soviets would live up to their promise not to re-enact the blockade.

Britain's morning newspapers took the general view that results were "as good as could be expected.

The Laborite Daily Herald cautioned that the agreements on Austria and Germany are "general principles" and that the west must now see "in what spirit they are translated into practice."

The conservative Daily Mail termed the accords "a palliative—not a cure."

French newspapers had much the same feeling.

Suit Hits Rail Union

CLEVELAND — (AP) Top officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers were asked in a court suit yesterday to account for some $6,000,000 in loyalty funds.

Alvanley Johnston, head of the brotherhood, was one of the officers named in the suit. It marked the second time in less than a month officers of the brotherhood had been sued over management of union funds.

The latest suit was filed in common pleas court by Fred L. Spence, Keithsburg, Ill., and "all other" holders of loyalty certificates.

The plaintiffs said the union sold $6,000,000 worth of certificates over a 20 - year - period and now wants the holders to surrender them for loyalty buttons. The petitioners also ask that funds be liquidated with the proceeds going toward redemption of the certificates.

Plan To Refit Two Carriers

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Defense Secretary Louis Johnson disclosed today that he has authorized the Navy to refit two fleet carriers to handle atomic bombing planes.

Johnson said the project will cost $80,000,000 and that the funds will come out of money saved when he cancelled construction of the Navy's projected 65,000-ton super carrier earlier this year.

He did not say specifically that the modernized carriers would fly atomic bombers, but he said they would be able to carry the "heavy" bomb planes originally envisaged for the super carrier.

CONVENTION PLANNED

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The 1950 convention of the Ohio Association of Life Underwriters will be held May 11-13 in Dayton, it was announced today.

Summer's Here, In Case You Didn't Know

Weatherman Says Cooler Air Will Reach Ohio Soon

Just to prevent any doubt that summer is here today, the weatherman has been serving up some jet-blast heat which has left most of the populace gasping. There's a ray of hope, however, in the report that cooler air is on the way.

And for those who had difficulty sleeping last night because of the heat, there is another note of encouragement. Tonight, June 21, will be the shortest night of the year, so the heat-disturbed persons won't have to spend quite so much time twisting and turning in bed.

But, on the other hand, Weather Forecaster C. G. Andrus explains that because the night will be shorter, it will lead to higher day-long temperatures, since the sun's rays will beat down that much longer during the day.

Individual thermometers probably varied, but the official high reading for Mansfield Monday was 87, with a low of 68 reported during the night, and the forecast for the next five days predicts temperatures averaging well above normal with showers by the week end totaling about one-half inch.

Andrus said a western mass of cool, dry air was moving toward Ohio and if it should reach here by tomorrow morning, the end to the torrid temperatures may be expected. Some scattered thundershowers also are expected to fall in various points tomorrow, but Andrus said they will be light.

Columbus reported the highest temperatures of the state Monday with an official reading of 92. Both Cleveland and Cincinnati sweltered in ninety-degree temperatures. Mansfield's 87 degree reading was the lowest reported in the state.

In the east more sticky, humid weather tortured New York City's millions, and even people vacationing in that section of the country had it rough. Thousands were prevented from getting respite from the heat at resorts in Vermont forests, closed because of the fire hazard, and they couldn t smoke or build fires in the tinder-dry woodlands of Massachusetts and Maine.

About the only people in Richland county who aren't troubled by the torrid sun overhead are the farmers who are busily "making hay while the sun shines."

Luxembourg Has Defense Against Atom Bomb Built During 1700's

LUXEMBOURG —(via airmail)—The best foxhole in Europe in the event of an atomic war is the grand duchy of Luxembourg.

This tiny postcard country has been prepared for 200 years against the dropping of the atom bomb. Deep beneath the breath-taking hills of its capital, one of the world's most picturesque cities, lie 17 miles of defensive tunnels.

"They were dug in the early 1700's, and they could easily hold everyone in the country," said David Ned Blackmer, 33, of Binghamton, N. Y.

The little monarchy, ruled by Grand Duchess Charlotte, is only 999 miles square and has a population of about 300,000.

Blackmer, an ex-G. I., decided after the war—like many another American soldier—he wanted to learn more about the lands he had fought across. So when he had recuperated from a severe head wound he came here to study the culture of Luxembourg to win his doctorate degree.

"The people have been extraordinarily friendly and cooperative," he said.

Luxembourgers have had a weary time trying to live up to their national motto: "We want to remain what we are."

The country is a natural stronghold, a crossroads for invasion armies moving across Europe, and its name means "little fortress." It has been a military outpost since Roman times.

More than most small countries Luxembourg knows the cost of being a football to the big powers. It agreed in 1867 to demolish its fortifications in return for a guarantee of "eternal neutrality." Since than German troops have wheeled across it in three wars.

BUT THIS TINY door mat of Europe is beginning to bristle. It has found "neutrality" doesn't pay.

"They are a little imperialistic now," laughed Blackmer. "They want a slice of Germany. That is they want the land—but not the Germans who live on it."

And Luxembourg has raised its pre-war army of 300 men to 10,000. This is really a token gesture, however to give a legalistic basis to its claim that its soldiers should be treated as war prisoners rather than impressed into foreign conquering armies.

How long Luxembourgers could hold out in the event of another invasion attack is problematical—unless they were quickly reinforced.

But they are wiring the old tunnels again," said Blackmer.

During the last war Luxembourg served as the headquarters of Gen. George S. Patton's Third army and the U. S. Ninth airforce. It was saved from destruction during the Battle of the Bulge in 1944, and the people are now strongly pro-American.

"There is no university here and Luxembourgers used to send their sons to Germany for higher education," said Blackmer. "Now it is the dream of every boy to study in America.

"They love American cars, and there are probably more American-made cars per capita here than there are in the United States."

On the other hand, there are also more Luxembourgers in Chicago than there are in the capital city here, and more Luxembourgers in America than now live in Luxembourg country itself.

County Soil Conservation Head Chosen

Robert Hilliard To Start July 1

Robert Hilliard, of Hillsboro, has been named soil conservationist for the Richland County Soil Conservation district.

Hilliard, who is employed by the Soil Conservation service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will begin his duties July 1.

County Agent C. N. McGrew said the supervisors of the Richland district approved the naming of Hilliard at a meeting last night. Hilliard previously had come to Mansfield for talks with the supervisors.

Hilliard now is in charge of the Wayne county soil conservation district. He had been on the job nine months and previously was employed by the soil conservation district for Highland county.

He is a graduate of Ohio university where he received a degree in agriculture, with a major in soil conservation. He is an Army veteran and before the war, attended the University of Michigan for a year and a half.

Hilliard said the idea of the program is embodied in the phrase that "every acre has a certain use." He explained that a farm should so be set up that every acre will be put to such use as is best fitted for erosion control.

VOLUNTARY SERVICE

However, the program is a voluntary one on the part of a farmer. If the farmer desires the service, the first thing Hilliard will do, he stated, will be to make a "soils map" of the farmer's property.

On the basis of the map, he will make recommendations on "proper use of the farm land," he explained. These recommendations consist of farm practices such as rotation, lime, fertilizer, pasture improvement, woodland and forests improvements, strip cropping, terraces, layout work on crop land, diversion ditches, and grass waterways.

The result of the survey shows the farmer how he can set up his farm so as to further soil erosion control.

Hilliard will be aided part-time by a soil scientist who will come to Richland county about a week out of each month.

A part-time engineer also will visit the county to aid in work concerning open ditches, tile drainage and farm ponds, but Hilliard will do most of the work himself.

Hilliard is married and has one son.

Richland county farmers, by an overwhelming majority, voted in the Soil Conservation district for the county last year. The program will get underway when Hilliard begins his duties July 1.

At last night's meeting Richland soil conservation supervisors agreed to assist in tours to be conducted during the soil conservation field day set for Aug. 23 and 24. That event will be held at Apple Creek in Wooster county, McGrew said.

PUT FINGER ON LOVE PIRATE—Two daughters of a missing widow, Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39, identify a 73-year-old "love pirate's)) picture in Chicago as that of the man to whom their mother gave $5,000 to bank for her after he had proposed marriage. A 48-state police alarm is out for Sigmund Z Engel, whose romantic swindling record in the U. S. dates from 1917 and goes back to Berlin and Vienna before that. The picture, rushed from Milwaukee, Wis., to Chicago via International News Soundphoto, is held by Detective Peter Harlid as Reseda, 19, and Orpha, 17, make the identification. After Mrs. Corrigan's disappearance, Mrs. Pauline D. Langton was swindled out of $50,000 in New York when she married a man she identified as Engel, but who posed as "Carl Laemmle jr." and disappeared.

Sues For Payments

Mansfielder Wants Jobless Compensation

A Mansfield man went to common pleas court yesterday in an attempt to collect unemployment compensation. He is Alva Delno Walker, 65, of 50 Mansfield avenue.

Walker appealed to the court from a decision of Board of Review of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation which refused to allow him compensation.

Farm Tools, Inc., for which Walker had been working, was named a defendant in the action.

The board, in turning down his claim, said Walker was not available for work. In his petition, Walker says the decision was erroneous and he adds that he was available for work.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch granted Walker leave to appeal from the board's decision. Attorney Marion Ward jr., represents Walker.

In another action, Vince G. Bowman, of Cleveland, seeks a judgment of $1,100, with interest from Jan. 13, 1949, from Frederick A. and Vera Thomas, 808 Yale avenue, as due on a promissory note.

City's Mastersingers, Soloist Score Hits

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Nearly 900 Mansfielders applauded the Mastersingers and tenor soloist, Fritz Krueger, when the chorus presented the first of two performances of its spring concert at John Simpson auditorium last night.

The Mastersingers were called back for three encores after their second group of songs. Krueger sang one encore after his first group of selections, and two encores after his second group.

During the nearly two-hour long program, the silence of the audience was broken only by the applause and the faint sound of waving programs as listeners fanned themselves in the warm auditorium.

It would be difficult to say which selections drew the most applause. Especially favorably received in the Mastersingers' first group of songs was "Laudemus Te" with a quartet of W. W. Gross, C. A. Young, Dr. R. H. Wadsworth, and C. L. Kantzer carrying the solo parts, and "Let Us Break Bread Together."

SINGS FOLK SONGS

Krueger altered his program slightly to include two German folk songs by Schubert instead of a French folk song. He told the audience he was making the substitution because he had heard members of the Liederkranz chorus were present.

Although his first group of classical numbers was well received, he captivated the audience with his renditions of three selections from "Porgy and Bess," by Gershwin.

"A Woman Is a Sometime Thing" and "It Ain't Necessarily So" were especially well received.

"Secrets" and "June Is Bustin' Out All Over" were the most popular numbers in the Mastersingers' second group of songs.

Krueger's encores included "Do You Remember?" "Without a Song.", and "Yours Is My Heart Alone."

OFFER ENCORES

The Mastersingers sang "The Old Ark's A' Moverin'", "The Deaf Old Woman," and "Oklahoma as encores. Applause for home" as encores. The applause was more than enough to bring forth another selection.

Krueger and the Mastersingers took several curtain calls after the final selection together, "Thine Alone."

Krueger was accompanied by his wife at the piano and the Mastersingers' accompanist was Dr. F. A. Hoffman.

The concert program will be repeated at John Simpson auditorium at 8:15 p. m. today.

Name School Architects

Architects last night were assigned to three of the schools to be built in Mansfield. The board of education awarded Harry J. Brumenshenkel the contract for the Prospect school. Vernon Redding associates are to do the new Carpenter school and Herbert S. Jones, the Bowman school.

Building costs for the new schools are estimated at $355,128 for Brinkerhoff; $639,957 for Bowman; and $390,957 for the Prospect school.

The board members voted to buy brick and tile for Brinkerhoff and the Hedges schools from the Richland Shale Brick company. They made a choice between that firm and the Voegele Brothers company on the basis of color variation and price.

The board of education voted to accept Mrs. Huntington's donation at last night's meeting. Carpenter, who attended the school on West First street, wrote the Carpenter geographies which were used in grade schools for many years.

All other councilors have been secured for the 10-day camping period, and unless a swimming instructor is found swimming will have to be omitted from the camp program. Other councilors are meeting at the "YW" today to make final plans for the camp program. Any licensed swimmer who is interested in the instructor's position should contact Miss Ann Knapp at the YWCA.

Man, 83, Hikes To Ashland, Rides Back

Apparently unmindful of yesterday's heat, Elmer Ditch, 83-year-old resident of the Richland county home, bid springtime goodbye by walking to Ashland. About 6 p. m. he strolled into the police department there and sought information as to transportation back to Mansfield.

He told Night Desk Chief Lossing Young he would have walked back but it was getting dark. Night Chief Young, who is acquainted with Ditch, called Sheriff M. F. Rickenbrod and explained the situation. The Ashland county sheriff volunteered to return Ditch.

Sheriff Rickenbrod said he brought his passenger to Central park about 8:30 p. m., where he left him out of the car when the elderly man explained he lived just a short distance out on Park avenue west, and would get a taxicab to go the rest of the way.

A check with officials at the county home today revealed that Ditch hadn't returned. They explained, however, he frequently walks away from the home and is usually returned by someone. This marks the longest period he has remained away, they said, and they expressed the hope that anyone seeing the aged man would return him to the home or call the officials there.

Search For Woman, 85

Mrs. Sarah Soliday, 85, who lives two miles west and one mile north of Johnsville, was reported missing from her home at 11 p. m. Monday, according to a report from the Richland county Sheriff's office

Fred Herrick, R. D 1, Lexington, told sheriff's deputies the woman was last seen at 9 a. m. Monday, and was wearing a light colored house dress, tennis shoes, and was reported carrying an extra dress and shoes.

She was described as being five feet four inches tall, with white hair, and weighs 110 pounds, deputies said.

Waits For Definite 'Turn'

Deadline On Contracts Near

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The government will maintain a "hands off" policy, at least until the week end, on the threatened nationwide soft coal strike, federal labor experts indicated today.

Officials said the federal mediation and conciliation service is keeping close tabs on the mine contract talks.

They said, however, that no federal action will be taken until negotiations between the United Mine Workers union and the soft coal operators take a "definite turn"—either toward a new contract settlement or a strike. The soft coal contract expires June 30—nine days from now.

LITTLE PROGRESS

The miners' union opened its fifth week of contract conferences with the Southern Coal Producers' association today at Bluefield, W. Va. Little progress has been made in these talks so far and southern industry officials generally are pessimistic about chances of getting a new wage agreement before the deadline.

John L. Lewis, mine workers president, will open talks with northern and western commercial coal operators tomorrow at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He will resume negotiations with the United States Steel corporation on Thursday.

No place has yet been designated for the continuation of the steel company bargaining conferences but Lewis is known to have asked that they, too, be held at White Sulphur Springs. Steel company officials say privately they probably will go along with Lewis' request. The Mine Workers-U.S. Steel conferences opened last week at Philadelphia.

Lewis has not yet made any specific contract demands on the coal industry.

Bushnell Tops List

Bushnell elementary school led the Mansfield schools in attendance for the final month of school, according to a report released by Supt. W. L. Miller last night.

Bushnell's percentage of attendance was 96.65. It was followed by Carpenter with 96.59 per cent and Rebecca Grubaugh at 96.46 per cent.

Low in percentage of attendance was Johnny Appleseed Junior High school which had 91.52 per cent.

Senior High which has the highest enrollment in the system reported the most cases of tardiness, 333. Johnny Appleseed was high in cases of truancy, 98, while Senior High was next with 55. Eight of the schools reported no truancy for the month.

For the enrollment of 6,932 pupils in the system there were 2,836 pupils reported neither absent nor tardy during this period. The percentage of attendance for the system was 93.84.

Livestock Experts Talk

More than 100 persons heard talks by livestock authorities Sunday afternoon at the annual picnic of the North Central Ohio Aberdeen Angus association at the Heath and Stanley Meadow Brook farm 12 miles north of Mansfield on the Bowman street road.

Prof. Herman Purdy of Ohio State university talked on "Type of Angus to Select and Feeding and Fitting Angus Cattle."

Short talks were given by Chester Guffey, of the Ohio Live Stock Journal, Columbus; Dean Godden of Ohio State, and Don Miller, a member of the Ohio state judging team of 1948. Miller made plans for the association's spring sale of Angus cattle which will be held in April, 1950.

Student Faces Prison Term

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A 20-year-old Ohio State student was under indictment for second degree manslaughter today, facing possible one-to-20 years in prison in the auto death of basketball star Bob Baidiger.

Donn Allen Schucker, a fellow-student of the western conference scoring ace, is accused of driving while intoxicated, speeding and reckless operation.

Baidiger was killed last May 21 while pushing his stalled car from a ditch with several companions. He was pinned to the back of his car by the speeding car.

Cleveland Arena Prexy Is Named

Cleveland Holds 2nd By 1 Point

PHILADELPHIA —(UP) — The Clevelands Indians held on to fourth place in the American league today by one percentage point after losing, 4 to 1, to the Athletics here last night.

The Indians are now 6½ games out of first place and one point ahead of the fifth-place Boston Red Sox. Before their recent winning streak the Indians were bogged down in seventh place, 10 games behind the New York Yankees.

Bob Lemon, who has won six games this year while losing only one, will start today on the mound for Cleveland. He will be opposed by Lou Brissie, also a six-game winner with three losses.

Dick Fowler, the Athletics towering right-hander with the bursitis-stricken shoulder, hurled his fifth straight victory and his sixth in nine starts in defeating the Tribe.

Fowler, who now has yielded just three runs in 35 innings, contributed two singles to the A's 10-hit attack on four Cleveland pitchers. Starter Mike Garcia suffered his third setback as against six victories.

THREE FREE TICKETS

The one run scored against Fowler stemmed from three walks and an error with one out in the first inning. All four of Cleveland's hits—including doubles by Lou Boudreau and Joe Gordon—were wasted.

Elmer Valo tied the score for Philadelphia by leading off the second inning with a 400-foot fly over Larry Doby's head for an inside-the-park homer. Later in the same inning the A's went ahead on a single and an error.

Two singles and two walks produced another Mack counter and chased Garcia in the fourth. After Sam Zoldak and Steve Gromek had checked the A's through the sixth, the home team scored its final run against Satchel Paige on three singles in the seventh.

Martin Steel Wins In 'Rec' League, 4 To 1

Phi Sigma Chi dropped into a tie for last place with a 4-1 loss to Martin Steel while the News-Journal was scoring its first triumph over the Old Timers, 11-8. Both the N-J and Phi Sigma Chi now have 1-3 records.

Martin Steel led all the way in its game while the N-J came from behind with four runs in the last of the fifth and stashed away the game with five more in the sixth.

Rocky Graziano Returns To Wars

WILMINGTON, DEL. — (AP) — Rocky Graziano returns to the fistic warfares tonight after an absence of a year with his sights set on a shot at the middleweight crown he once held.

The one-time boss of the 160 pounders takes on Buffalo's Bob Claus at Wilmington's ball park. It'll be Graziano's first competitive appearance in the ring since Tony Zale took back the middleweight title June 10, 1948. Rocky had won the title a year previous from Zale.

Cycles To Race

COLUMBUS — Headed by national 200 miles champion, Dick Klamfoth of Georgetown, O., leading motorcycle racing stars of the country will compete next Sunday afternoon at Columbus Motor Speedway located three miles southeast of Columbus, O.

STAR HURT—Sliding into first base on a bunt, film star Ronald Reagan is injured in a movie star "world series" at Wrigley field in Los Angeles. Reagan is on ground, surrounded by fellow players. He was removed from the field on a stretcher but later it was announced that he had received a strained ligament, not a broken right leg as first feared. He probably will not be able to walk for several weeks, doctors say. (International Soundphoto).

Patton's Knee Hampers Pacific Coast Chances

BERKELEY, Cal. — (INS) — Pacific coast conference hopes of breaking the big ten's virtual stranglehold on their annual track and field meets were dimmed somewhat today by Mel Patton's doubtful status.

The coast sprint flash, who had been expected to win both the 100 and 200-yard dashes and to anchor the 440-yard sprint relay, turned up with a sore knee. His coach, Jess Hill, said he would start definitely only in the hundred.

Patton's point-getting ability had been counted on in turning back the midwesterners' bid for their fourth straight victory in the series.

The meet — the ninth between the two conferences — will be held in the late afternoon at the University of California's Edwards stadium.

The Big Ten's olympic champion half-miler, Mal Whitfield, from Ohio State, will confine himself to two events. Whitfield will race only in the 440 and the mile relay leaving the 880 to his Big Ten teammates, Herb Barten and Don Gehrmann.

Barten also will run a mile relay lap and Gehrmann will perform in his specialty, the mile.

In the field events, greatest interest centers on the discus throw, where three men are capable of bettering 170 feet. Top man here for the coast is UCLA's Taylor Lewis who takes on the Big Ten 170-footers, Byrl Thompson of Minnesota, and Bill Miller of Ohio State.

The shotput mark of 53 feet 11-½ inches set by Stan Anderson of Stanford, is nearly certain to fall. Two other Stanfordites, Otis Chandler and Lew Davis have bettered that mark consistently this year.

Charles Rates Slight Favorite Over Jersey Joe

Fighters Wind Up With Light Drills

by JACK CUDDY

CHICAGO —(UP)— They hoisted an "iron curtain" around Ezzard Charles' camp today on the eve of his bout with Jersey Joe Walcott for the NBA-recognized heavyweight championship of the world.

And it was just as well, because Charles was an 8-to-5 favorite who is better off not hearing of the confident statements oozing from Walcott.

Charles normally is a cocky sort of fellow who does not hesitate to predict glowing victories for himself. But for this bout he appeared leery, if not apathetic. The best he could do before reporters were shunted from the camp was to predict:

"The man with the best punch or the man who throws the most punches will win the fight."

That statement could hardly be considered a daring venture onto a limb.

Walcott, on the other hand, was confident in a left-handed sort of way. "My manager, Mr. (Felix) Bocchiccio and I have always thought we'd get the championship some day," he said. "We didn't know when, but we thought we'd get it."

And then he added, "If not the first time, then maybe, the second, or the third, or the fourth."

ONE MORE CHANCE

This being his third crack at the title, it could be presumed that Jersey Joe feels he has at least one more chance should he fail here tomorrow night.

The attitude towards this fight was generally one of apathy on the part of the public, although the promoters characteristically predicted a take of about $250,000. Recognized as a championship match b ythe NBA, it as yet has no such sanction in such non-NBA states as New York, nor is it recognized in England.

The fighters wound up their training with light workouts yesterday. Charles went through five rounds of sparring against three partners. Walcott finished his boxing the day before, and took only light exercises yesterday.

Because of the so-called "iron curtain" which Manager Jake Mintz slapped on the Charles camp, Ezzard's plans were not known. However, it was reported that he will return from his suburbs training camp to Chicago tonight. Walcott was due to remain in camp until tomorrow morning, when he will drive here for the weigh-in.

Ezzard Charles — Jersey Joe Walcott

YOUTH AGAINST EXPERIENCE—Billed for the world's heavyweight championship, the bout between Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati and Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N. J. Wednesday night in Chicago's Comiskey park should be a contest of youth against Experience. Charles is several years younger than Walcott, but Jersey Joe twice fought Joe Louis for the crown. The title bout is a promotional venture of the International Boxing club, of which Louis is one of the head men. (International).

Wagner Pops Artie Levine In 8th Round

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Matchmaker Larry Atkins and Brooklyn belter Artie Levine hit the deck together last night at Cleveland stadium.

Atkins has announced he will be back in the fall, but Levine probably is through in Cleveland for good.

The New York light heavyweight went down and out for three minutes last night in the eighth round of his scheduled 10-round Donnybrook with Dick Wagner, the windmill walloper from Portland, Ore.

Atkins' woes were caused by a slim turnout of only 4,780 spectators, who contributed to a gate of just $11,661. What few Atkins followers who did turn out for the bout were not dissappointed.

Wagner and Levine went after each other with caveman savagery from start to the eighth round finish, just as they did back in April when Wagner walked off with a 10-frame split decision.

Mansfield Rangers Granted Use of Stadium Field

The Mansfield Board of Education gave approval last night to the Mansfield Rangers professional football team to use Stadium Field for Sunday games next fall.

In a communication from Dan W. Markowitz, team president the Rangers asked that they be permitted to use the stadium for six to eight games between Sept. 11 and Nov. 27.

Markowitz said the team is to be made up of former Senior high school players and will participate in the Ohio Football league.

Other cities in the league include Toledo, Bucyrus, Sandusky, Massillon, and Akron.

The approval was given on the condition that the organization can make suitable financial arrangements with Business Manager Glenn L. Robinson.

Gets Black Eye, Then Hole-In-One

SHARON, Pa. — (AP) — Youngstown golfer Al Thomas yesterday joined the hole-in-one club at the Tam O'Shanter course. Thomas suffered an injury a few minutes before his ace when his tee shot on No. 14 hole hit a tree, bounded back and hit him below the right eye. Four holes later he used his No. 2 iron and made the 162-yard No. 18 hole in one.

"Maybe I better play them all with a black eye, said Thomas.

Matmen Must Stay In Mansfield Ring

All the grunting and burping at the Armory wrestling matches is going to have to be done in the ring, according to a new agreement reached yesterday between Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Promoter Clete Kauffman.

The two met in the mayor's office yesterday where Vaughn told Kauffman that two of Ivan Rasputin's three falls into the gallery were "phony" and that Wild Bill Zimovich should have been kept in a neutral corner while Rasputin was crawling into the ring.

Rosputin was on the outside of the ropes twice when Zimovich pushed him over into the ringside seats.

The mayor pointed out that the wrestling matches are "good shows" and that Kauffman is running a "clean bill" but that the wrestlers must be warned that scheduled falls into the audience would not be permitted.

"There were women and children at the ringside Saturday night who might have been injured if Rasputin had fallen on them," Vaughn said.

The mayor said that he would notify Boxing Commission Chairman Harold Bloodgood about the matter. Wrestlers will be warned that "phony" out-of-the-ring falls would cause the commission to hold up their purses.

The mayor and Rasputin had "words" when the big boy fell at His Honor's feet Saturday night.

Philadelphia Clubs Are 'Hottest' In Majors

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK — (UP) — Maybe it's the heat, maybe it's the humidity, but before the man comes with reservations for that nice padded cell, how about just considering an all-Philadelphia world series?

Take the Phils. Since June 6 they have won 11 out of 15 games to come from a lowly spot in the second division to a fourth place berth, just 2½ games behind the pace setting Brooklyn Dodgers. Now, who has done any better? The Cardinals, over a comparable period won and lost the same number of games and the pace-setting Dodgers had a similar mark of 10 wins in 14 games.

And the Phils have won during the past week without their tragically injured star, Eddie Waitkus, who previously had been their spark plug.

Now how about the Athletics? Nobody ever takes them seriously. Last year they hung on in the pennant fight until the final month — this year they threaten to do even better, but nobody dares mention them in connection with the word "pennant."

Right now the A's are the hottest club in the American league with 12 wins out of their last 16, while Cleveland has won 10 out of 16 and Detroit nine of 16. They are now in third place, 4½ games out of the lead.

Both the Phils and A's won breezing last night to enhance their contending positions. Russ Meyer pitched the Phils to a seven-hit, 7 to 1 victory over the Pirates in which he missed a shutout because of Ralph Kiner's 15th homer. Willie Jones hit a Philly homer in the 15-hit attack in which every starter got at least one blow. Meyer got two singles to drive in two runs himself in winning his sixth game.

Dick Fowler, the guy with the aching arm, pitched the Athletics to a 4 to 1 triumph over the hot Cleveland club.

The Yankees topped the Browns, 4 to 1, at New York on the margin of Jackie Phillip's three-run homer. Fred Sanford pitched seven-hit ball to win his third game, beating his ex-team mates without difficulty.

Walt Masterson pitched fine ball for seven innings to record his first victory since switching from Washington to Boston, but there was an ominous note in the 6 to 1 Red Sox decision over the Tigers for he had to leave the game with a sore arm.

Young Bobby Rhawn, obtained for the bargain counter price of $10,000 from the Giants last week, gave the White Sox a 6 to 5 victory at Washington that ended a five-game losing streak when he hit a two-run single to send in the tying and winning tallies. Lefty Bob Kuzava went all the way to win his third game, a seven-hitter.

The Cardinals had no difficulty topping the Giants, 7 to 2, as Gerry Staley scored his third straight victory over them and Red Schoendienst, set the batting pace with four hits, boosting his average to 357, just one point behind league leader Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn.

Eddie Stanky's double and a single by Elbie Fletcher gave the Braves a ninth inning run for a 3 to 2 victory over the Cubs at Chicago, the ninth of the season for curve-baller Vern Bickford. The Cubs missed a chance to tie it up when Frankie Gustine left third too soon after a fly ball in their half of the inning. After scoring what apparently was the tying run, he was declared out at third. Hank Sauer hit a two-run Chicago homer.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Woman Says Kidnapers Detained Her

M'CALLEN, TEX. —(UP)— Mrs. Cynthia Kernan, wife of a retired U. S. army colonel, arrived here Monday after a wild flight from Mexico, where she said she had been held hostage for three months by kidnapers.

Her kidnapers, Mrs. Kernan said, demanded information from her about the work done by her son and her brother, both army officers, who had been stationed in Alaska.

Mrs. Kernan, a middle-aged brunette, is the wife of retired Col. Harold Kernan. They make their home now at Durangeo, Mexico.

(The U. S. Embassy in Mexico City said today it had received no previous report that Mrs. Kernan was missing.)

She said she was kidnaped on St. Patrick's day evening, while en route to post a letter.

"Two Mexican men grabbed me, tossed a blanket over my head and put me into a sedan," she said.

That was a block from her home, and she said she was captive until last Wednesday night when she stole a jeep and fled from an adobe house. She came here to await the arrival of her husband.

Mrs. Kernan said her kidnapers never mistreated her. Five times, she said, a tall, blond-haired man quizzed her.

"He kept asking what my son was doing in Alaska."

The son, Benjamin, a 1948 West Point graduate, has since been killed. A plane crash at Wright Field, Dayton, cost his life last November.

is normal talk among our men. We properly train you in territory. You must have a car and free to work in Wayne and adjoining counties.

See Mr. Robt. Dunn
Hotel Fairview
Tues. and Wed.

Dear Salesmen:

We know you have been fooled before. You see ads saying: "Salesmen Wanted," and it turns out to be selling either a "Spiffy vacuum cleaner" or a bottle of "Go-and-Do" floor polish, and you run into forty other salesmen selling competitive lines trying to get there before you.

Understanding your trials and tribulations in the past, we still would like just ten minutes of your time to explain to you how you can make a minimum of $160 a week selling our product, which is NON-COMPETITIVE and proven, and not a luxury. Let us relate to you actual experiences of other salesmen and territories.

If you have had any selling experience to other commercial factories, homes or farms you will not have any difficulty selling our product. Leads furnished and factory sales training. This is also a chance for you to go into business for yourself without investment in the near future.

Just come up to our office between 9:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. daily and let's talk it over. It will be worth your while.

Summer's Mystery Scourge

Cause of Polio Still Unknown; It Afflicts Only Men and Chimpanzees

By PAUL D. DEATON

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Forty three Ohioans died in 1947 and 87 more in 1948 of the insidious mystery killer poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, as it is more commonly known.

Nobody knows how many will die in 1949.

Yet public health authorities such as Dr. Charles R. Freeble, jr., head of the communicable diseases section of the state health department say that polio is not the number one public health problem.

He says there are any number of other sicknesses, such as the venereal diseases, the typhoid family, arthritis, and diphtheria which are either more widespread or have a far higher death rate.

Freeble blames what he calls the "widespread hysteria" attendant on polio on the great publicity it has had since the time of the late President Roosevelt, and the dramatic mystery about practically every phase of infantile paralysis.

The doctor says this in no way minimizes the excellent work done by the polio foundation and other agencies. He is quick to point out many groups are doing fine research in the cause, spread and treatment of polio.

Freeble says doctors aren't even certain which germ or virus causes polio. They're not sure how you get it. They don't know how it spreads, or whether polio and its death rate are rising or falling. Everything about the disease is shrouded in ignorance and mystery.

Freeble says:

"There are a number of standard precautions for the avoidance of polio which any doctor can quote, but they're all shots in the dark. For instance.

"1. Avoid crowds. That's fine if it's respiratory. If it's not, the remedy is no good. Even so, it could apply to any respiratory ailment.

"2. Avoid over - exercise or over-tiring. Now doesn't that sound fine? That's just good hygiene.

"3. Avoid swimming in water which might be polluted, particularly that which might contain sewage. — My gosh, your good sense should tell you that.

"4. Avoid polluted water, unsafe food and milk. Beware of flies and eating with unwashed hands. —This is more of the same thing.

"5. Be sure all possible cases are reported immediately for diagnosis and treatment. This means not only that the individuals concerned should report to a doctor, but also that the doctor should report early to the public health authorities because there are special agencies for handling infantile."

Then Freeble adds.

"But these are only common sense. All these would avoid a heck of a lot of stuff in addition to polio."

THE SYMPTOMS

Another mystifying thing about infantile, Freeble says, is the fact that in its early stages it might be judged to be anything from a common cold, or a simple fever to mumps. However, in the pre-paralytic or reporting stage, he says the symptoms become more definite. They are:

Sore throat in about 50 per cent of the cases; fever; headache; a flushed face; a tendency to seem dazed, irritable or irrational; occasional abdominal pain; but particulrly, pain in the neck and back, or any muscular pain combined with the other symptoms.

The doctor says that one of the prime delays in polio research is the fact that the only animal except man which seems to get the disease is the chimpanzee — and chimpanzees cost around $500 each.

"They have been able to give one strain to mice," he said, "but they're not actually certain that strain really is polio or just something like it."

"Once they find a small animal like the mouse, they'll be able to work with hundreds of cases at a time, but until then, they're just shooting in the dark."

One of the strangest things about polio in Ohio, Freeble says, is the fact that it's far worse in the north and eastern — or more industrialized — parts of the state.

"In fact, you could almost draw a line from Trumbull to Adams county, and all the area, including those counties, to the south and southeast are practically in the clear," he says.

According to maps listing the number of times within the past 15 years that each county has had more than two cases of infantile for each 1,000 population, Morrow and Geauga counties are the worst. They've been right up there every year. Lake, Summit and Medina counties are next. Then it fans out generally over the whole northeast part. Medical authorities just can't understand it.

However, Freeble says "they're fairly well agreed that the spread of the disease cannot be stopped by such measures as closing the schools, theaters and playgrounds. After all, the kids are pretty well supervised and stay fairly far apart at most of these places. And, besides, those measures don't stop Dad or Mom from spreading polio — if that's the way it spreads — when they go to the office or the grocery. ."

Freeble sums up the whole astounding problem this way:

"When they isolate the polio virus; when they decide how it's spread, and when they find a small, inexpensive laboratory animal — then they'll be able to go to work.

PEEK AT SECRET MURAL—State Department Receptionist Mrs. Mary Butler pulls aside a curtain to give Mrs. Thomas Hickson a look at a mural that has been covered since Gen. George Marshall was Secretary of State. The General ordered the painting kept under wraps because he felt it was too warlike to be displayed in an office dedicated to peaceful diplomacy.

Spend Fifth On Military

WASHINGTON —(UP)— A secret analysis prepared here indicates that almost 20 per cent of the entire national income of the Soviet union during 1949 will go for military expenditures.

Soviet "peace" propaganda has stated that Russian arms expenditures are less than one-third of America's. The analysis brands these statements as falsehoods, based on faked budget figures.

Current strength of the Soviet armed forces is placed at 4,000,000 men: that of the United States at 1,685,000.

Her armed forces cost the soviet union only $1,800 per man per year, against a figure of $5,000 per man per year for the United States. The differences is accounted for largely by the higher standard of living for the individual American soldier, and higher pay for U. S. industrial workers.

The Soviet national income for 1949 is placed at $67.600,000.000. Of this total, $13.100,000.000 is allocated to military expenditures of all types—or 19.2 per cent of the total.

United States estimated income for the year is $224,000,000,000. Total defense expenditures were expected to be $13,800,000,000 or 6.2 per cent of the total.

ASSUME HOME DUTIES

ASHLAND — Mr. and Mrs. James Rudd, North Robinson, have assumed the duties of house father and mother at Ashland county Children's Home on a three-week try-out basis.

Nation Will Build More

WASHINGTON — (AP) — This country probably will do more new construction work this year than it did in 1948, the Producer's Council reports. The council said that the amount of money spent probably will fall off a bit from last year, but also building costs "probably will be somewhat lower."

The council is a national organization of building products manufacturers.

It said that construction work this year is running high because of an anticipated 22 per cent increase in publicly financed projects.

The value of privately financed construction, it added, is about nine per cent below last year.

Nearly every type of private building is expected to decline. For instance, there will be a drop of 17 per cent in new stores, restaurants and garages, the council statement said.

In public construction, gains are reported in almost every field except in army and navy installations.

This country is building more highways, and laying more sewers and water lines, than it did in 1948.

But the biggest gain is in the construction of public schools.

There the increase over 1948 is 50 per cent, the council added.

Former Ohio Baby Sitter Now Assistant To U. S. Surgeon

WASHINGTON —(AP)— An Ohio girl who used to earn dimes as a baby sitter is the first woman assistant surgeon general of the U. S. public health service.

She is Miss Lucile Petry, all of five feet tall, a famed nurse-educator, and a student of practically everything under the sun.

Miss Petry is in Europe now, studying again, and as usual helping others to do their job better; to get the best nursing to the greatest number needing it.

She went to Sweden to attend international congress of nurses at Stockholm, and to make side trips to Finland and Denmark at invitation of both governments. She will look over their nursing services, and offer suggestions. That, she said before leaving, means a chance to learn something new, too. It always has.

She will be back home June 30 to start her new job, which carries a rank equal to that of brigadier general. In it she will give leadership to the whole, broad field of nursing in the United States.

The pretty little curly - head from Lewisburg, Ohio, has a happy faculty for rousing enthusiasm among associates, and for commanding loyalty. Her personality sparkles, and her blue-grey eyes are merry. She works calmly under pressure, and doesn't lose her temper.

These qualities stood her in good stead when, in 1943, government chose her to head the cadet nurse corps.

Lucile Petry has been the kind of worker who found fun in her job since she was a child in Ohio and Delaware. She took care of the neighbors' kids — for pay or to be accommodating, picked strawberries, and worked in a canning factory, a general store, a broker's office.

Her childhood was spent in Lewisburg, where she was born and in Felton, Del. Her father, D. A. Petry, took the family to Felton when he became a school principal there. He and Mrs. Petry are retired now in Shelbyville, Del.

Graduated with honors from University of Delaware, she got her nurse's diploma at Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing in 1927. She taught in the Yale University School of Nursing and became assistant director of University of Minnesota School of Nursing for 10 years. Along the way she got her master's degree at Columbia University Teachers college. Her vacations always have been devoted to study in one school or another.

In 1941 Miss Petry became the first woman to hold a public health service administrative post, becoming director of the Division of Nursing education. She retained the title when, two years later, she became dean of the Cornell university — New York University Hospital School of Nursing in New York city. A month later, however, she took a leave of absence to head the cadet nurse corps.

Checks Kept On Fireworks

Two fireworks stands have been set up in the county, but Sheriff E. P. Long said today he has been keeping tab on the stands and they have been selling only sparklers and pistol caps which is permissible.

The sheriff added that checks by deputies haven't revealed sales of any other types of fireworks.

One of the stands is located on the Ashland road, just beyond the Ashland hill. The other stand is located on the South Main street road just outside the city limits.

13 Made Life Members of Owls

Thirteen charter members of the Order of Owls, Mansfield Nest 1152, received life memberships in the order at the 40th anniversary picnic at Oak Park Grove, Sunday.

They were Sam T. Craig, Fred Hoppe, Carl Heitz, Andy Johnson, William Michael, Henry Mercer, William Ritchey, H. C. Ricketts, George C. Sommers, John Schrunk, J. G. Trine, William Kneeland, and Charles Pruecker. President Ernest R. Geiger made the presentations.

Taps were sounded for Glenn "Tony" Leonard, who was killed in a power line accident last week. A 10-minute service followed, conducted by President Geiger.

Supreme Court Bans Ohio Tax On Out-of-State Corporations

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The supreme court has held unconstitutional an Ohio tax against notes accounts receivable and other intangible property owned by out of state corporations

The courts 7 2 decision announced Monday by Justice Jackson touched off another verbal battle between Jackson and Justice Douglas

Jackson based his majority opinion on the ground that the tax denied the out of state companies involved in the case — Wheeling Steel corporation and National Distillers — of equal protection under the constitution

Douglas filed a biting dissent condemning the practice, in use since 1886, of giving corporations the protections guaranteed a "person under the 14th amendment

He attacked this interpretation and declared that the court is dealing with a vital question which should be disposed of by the people of the nation

Douglas added

If they (the people) want corporations to be treated as humans are treated they should say so The constitution provides a method by which they may do so We should not do it for them through the guise of interpretation"

Jackson replying to Douglas in an unusual second opinion, said that such consistent liberals as Mr Justice Brandeis and Mr Justice Stone had not challenged the application of the 14th amendment to corporations and that until Douglas opinion, he had supposed the question was no longer pressed"

Government Costs $363 Per Person

Upward Trend Starts Again

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The cost of our federal, state and local government will average this year about $363 for every man woman and child according to a survey published by the U S News and World Report

That compares with the peak wartime figure of $380 per head to show that the spending trend is down but not much The 1949 cost of government roughly will divide about like this

Federal government $270 per person

State and local government $93 per person

Americans steadily have been buying more government especially federal government, for many years The rate of increase is astonishing The cost of federal government for each man, woman and child in the United States in 1915 was a modest $6 94 World War I drove the figure to a peak of $81 82, per person

In the boom year of 1928 the cost was $30.24 In first year of FDR's first administration it averaged $40 95 After that the trend was steadily upward until the 1945 World War II peak.

Last year the figure was $268 and an upward trend apparently was begun again According to figures assembled by Rep Daniel A Reed, R N Y the federal tax take in the fiscal year which begins July 1 will in every state exceed the sum of taxes collected by all state and local agencies

"In most instances Reed said "federal taxes will be two, three or four times as much"

Tighter Strip Mining Controls Run Into Final Test Today

Operators Call Bill 'Workable'

Realty Tax Fight Looms In House

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — An administration-backed bill to tighten coal strip-mine regulation runs into its final legislative test today.

Senators called the measure to a vote less than a week after their conservation committee recommended passage. The house passed it earlier.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche termed strip-mine control laws enacted two years ago "unenforceable" and asked some with "teeth." Coal operators and conservationists agreed the proposed law has them and is workable.

Representatives girded for battle over a proposal to equalize real property valuations throughout Ohio for taxation. The House postponed action on the bill last week and made it a special order of business today.

The proposal seeks broad powers for the state board of tax appeals. It says the board shall order realt assessed at true value by taxing districts. Failure to comply or make adjustments carries a stiff penalty. The board must order half the local government and school funds withheld from counties and taxing districts that do not comply.

Counties and school districts with high tax duplicates complain they help support low-duplicate areas. They want valuations equalized to assure even responsibility. Representatives from low valuation counties plan to fight the proposal.

The Senate finance committee began hearings on the biennial budget bill, key legislation to adjournment. With the General assembly in its 25th week lawmakers looked longingly towards vacations. No date for quitting is in sight.

Administration leaders pressed for speedy budget hearings. Sen. Clingan Jackson (D-Mahoning), finance committee chairman indicates he won't be rushed. The bill approved by the House carries $646,000,000 to run the state for two years starting July 1.

House - Senate FEPC conference committee members called another meeting today. They are ready to recommend a compulsory FEPC measure. Members have delayed for more than a week for fear their "compromise" can not pass the Senate.

Senators voted for an educational FEPC program. The House voted for compulsion and the conference committee seeks a compromise. Rejection of the conference report by either House will doom the administration supported legislation.

Ohio's Share In Federal Grants

WHEN federal expenditures are thought of in billions of dollars the average taxpayer is unlikely to reduce the figures to individual or community application.

In several instances, however, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce has taken the trouble to do some figuring along this line and now comes up with information to the effect that, under terms of bills now awaiting congressional approval, Ohio taxpayers would contribute $290,969,000 to the cost of the Economic Co-operation Administration and other foreign air programs.

This, it is calculated, represents for foreign aid $37 per person in Ohio, and $125 for the average-size family.

It is pointed out that Ohio taxpayers bear 5.83 per cent of the total federal tax burden, and Executive Vice President Herschel C. Atkinson, of the Ohio Chamber, reminds: "All federal spending is paid for by taxes collected from the people and business in the 48 states, and from nowhere else. It is best, for reasons of public policy, that the people who foot this bill realize the full extent of their tax contribution."

Also, in an informational way, the Ohio Chamber has tabulated this state's costs under the federal aid to education bill, which has been passed by the Senate and is now being considered by the House.

Based on proposed federal grants of approximately $300,000,000, Ohio's contribution would be around $15,629,000. Richland county's share would be $203,177, of which $78,031 would be returned to this county.

Whatever may be the attitude toward various calls for expenditure of "government money," it should be clearly understood that it is only by the payment of taxes that this money can be provided—and that it is only by performance of necessary work that tax-paying ability can be sustained.

Served His 'Home Town' Well

ANOTHER of the men whose entire life cycle centered about Mansfield has now passed from life—William F. Voegele, member of an honored pioneer family and grandson of Henry J. Voegele, who came to America from Germany in 1853 and immediately settled in Mansfield, where the family name has since been familiar, and fortunately extends into the next generation.

Born in Mansfield, William was privileged for 40 years to be known as "Junior," for it was not until 1916 that his father died, after an active and varied career in this community.

Boyhood and school days of "Billy" Voegele, as he was quite generally known, were followed by college, which included education in law; then a start in the legal profession in his home town, with election to the office of mayor of Mansfield at the age of 29.

Later years, while devoted primarily to the law, offered opportunity for a variety of activities and it is quite likely that his long period of uncompensated service as a trustee of the Madison township Soldiers and Sailors Memorial building gave him the greatest satisfaction of any of his associations.

His interests extended to civic, fraternal, financial, business, social and religious circles, with home and family as the center of devoted attention.

It is with a feeling of sadness that one after another of the long-time associates of earlier days are checked from the list of those from whom the inspiration of a friendly greeting served to cheer the day, and now it is "Billy" Voegele who will continue to live in memory.

Paul Robeson Likes Russia Better

IT IS REGRETTABLE that Paul Robeson, distinguished Negro singer and actor, is so poorly impressed with his own country—the United States of America—that he expresses preference for Russia and has become an enthusiastic spokesman for communism.

An outstanding achievement of Paul Robeson is that he succeeded in hurdling racial barriers—all of which have not yet been removed—and was given opportunity in this country of his birth to become a brilliant scholar, a great actor and a superb singer.

Unlike some of the other distinguished members of his race—Booker T. Washington and George Washington Carver, for instance—Paul Robeson has concentrated his attention on imperfections in the American system, rather than being appreciative of its advantages, and is quoted as having said, during his recent visit in Moscow: "I am truly happy that I am able to travel from time to time in the U. S. S. R.—the country I love above all."

Mr. Robeson returned last week-end to be present at the marriage of his son, who also has the advantage of a college education in this country, although his boyhood schooling was in Russia, by his father's preference.

The question seems pertinent, if Robeson's preference for Russia and the communist system is as firmly fixed as is indicated by his utterances, why does he not go there to live permanently?

Council-Manager Form Favored

WHAT is the best form of city government? The Senate has just given its view in voting a self-government charter for the city of Washington. The decision was for the council-manager type, where the voters elect the council and that body chooses the manager.

This does away with the old, glad-handing type of chief executive, who knows little or nothing about government and in any event passes from the scene after one or two terms. Cities enlightened enough to replace this system by a modern, businesslike type have not regretted it.

Harry Wade decides that in all the confusion of the Red witch hunt it is difficult to determine witch is witch.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Brannan Plan Is Bait For Farm Votes

IN A HAPPY, confident mood, President Truman is willing to bet a dollar that his Brannan farm plan will be adopted at this session of the 81st Congress—or that most of it will be enacted this year and the remainder next year.

He has reason to be happy, because it is hard to see how he can lose politically. The mere fact that the plan may be a delusion or that it may not be enacted is not important to him or to Secretary Brannan.

The political fact is that he has a plan which can be beautifully dressed up for farm consumption and, if Congress defeats it, he can, in 1950, blame the Republicans.

This strategy is going to be especially useful if 1950 is to be a year of high unemployment, low prices and slow business.

If the new plan is not adopted, there is still plenty of authority under the Republican Aiken-Hope Act of 1948 to keep the farmers fairly comfortable. And they can be reminded by Democratic speakers of how much happier they would be under the Brannan plan.

Meanwhile, Republicans are reduced to a negative course. They can attack the Brannan plan and they can defend their own Aiken-Hope Act. But they have no new plan of their own. That is to say their party has no plan on which all responsible members are united.

It must be conceded, too, that the Truman administration is playing very shrewd politics in attempting to cut into Republican strongholds in the Midwest. Until Truman's election, this had not been done by Democrats since Roosevelt made great inroads there in 1932.

In the second and third Roosevelt terms, the Democratic party steadily lost ground in farm regions. It concentrated on labor and the cities. Wallace seemed to lose interest in the farm vote and turned more and more to labor and kindred allies.

* *

Play For Farm Vote.

TRUMAN has reversed this trend, and in Brannan he has a most plausible salesman. This was abundantly shown in the recent Des Moines meeting.

It was the beginning of a systematic drive for a larger share in the farm vote in regions where Republicans cannot afford to lose ground.

Truman won his election by this strategy and he now proposes to extend his gains. He was, of course, helped by the lack of opposition by his opponent.

In the new drive much will be made of the famous issue of the storage bins. There is violent dispute about the responsibility for the failure to provide storage facilities for the bumper grain crop of 1948.

Brannan claims the Commodity Credit Corporation was denied the power to provide the bins last year. Senator Wherry, Republican leader, asserts that the CCC, under law approved a year ago, had that authority. In any event, Brannan now has the authority to provide storage bins, and they will be ostentatiously distributed to farmers who have surpluses.

The Brannan plan, moreover, has a powerful class appeal. It is designed for the "family size farm." Big farms will not be denied some support, but they will get only as much as the small farms.

In voting on quotas under the present law next month, farms—small and large—will be on an equal basis. They will have one vote, regardless of size.

The cost of the Brannan proposal is unknown. Truman and Brannan artfully avoid that issue. Brannan only says that his plan "does not cost anything until farm prices have already dropped out of line as compared with non-farm prices."

Senator Wherry, meanwhile, on his own responsibility has proposed that crop surpluses be absorbed by a wide program of turning grain into alcohol. This idea, if adopted by Republicans generally might become a workable alternative. But there still appears no disposition among Republicans to accept it.

The Nation Today

Pressure On Education

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Step by step, education in this country is beginning to feel the pressure of the national concern about communism.

As the pressure grows, inside and outside the schools themselves, angry arguments become intense over this question:

How far can academic freedom—freedom to teach and search for truth—be interfered with without damaging, terrorizing or destroying it?

Here are some examples of recent events:

1. Several professors were fired from the University of Washington for being members of the Communist party.

2. The University of California has ordered its 4,000 teachers to take a new oath of loyalty to the United States.

3. A week ago 20 top educators — including Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, and Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard, issued a report which said:

The reasoning behind those three steps was this: A Communist party member has no academic freedom anyway; he surrendered intellectual honesty when he joined the party and now, sheep-like, does what it tells him.

But all three steps dealt with the teaching done by teachers, not with what teachers did outside a classroom. Now that element has been added.

* * *

Rights as Citizens.

IN A sharp letter to President Conant of Harvard — who says communist teachers shouldn't be hired—Frank B. Ober, who graduated from Harvard in 1913 and now is a Baltimore lawyer, said:

"Anyone familiar with communist methods knows that most of the damage from teachers is done outside the classroom made possible by the influence gained in the classroom.

"Similarly, I believe a professor's efforts to aid communists gain greatly from his prestige as a professor, and it is not reasonable to close one's eyes to such extracurricular activities."

Ober is the father of the anti-communist law recently passed by the Maryland legislature. In his letter he complained bitterly about two Harvard professors, Harlow Shapley, who teaches astronomy, and John Ciardi, who teaches English composition.

Ciardi, he said, spoke at a Maryland meeting of Henry Wallace's Progressive party, to fight the anti-communist law sponsored by Ober; Shapley, he said, spoke at the New York meeting of the "Cultural and Scientific conference for World Peace" where this country's foreign policy was attacked.

Ober wants Harvard to set up its own loyalty program. He said: "the test of a professor's actions ought not to be whether he can be actually proved guilty of a crime. Reasonable grounds to doubt his loyalty to our government should disqualify him, for the position is one of trust, and the government has, if it chooses to exercise it, regulatory power over education."

Conant answered briefly that Harvard's long tradition of letting its professors act as private citizens will remain unchanged.

Harvard "believes that the members of the faculties, in their capacity as citizens, have the same rights to express themselves as other citizens, and that those rights should not be restricted by the university by trying to keep a 'watch' on professors."

Meanwhile, the House un-American activities stuck its fingers into education and ran into hot trouble. The chairman, Rep. Woods, Georgia Democrat, had written a letter to a number of schools and colleges.

In it he asked for a list of text books used by the schools. His committee wanted to see whether the books were slanted in favor of Russia. Immediately, some of the most important educators denounced this interference in education by the committee.

The committee has been given an editorial scorching. President Truman cracked at it, and now five of the nine committee members said they weren't even consulted about the letter Woods sent out.

Chinese-Soviet Bargaining Revealed

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — An amazing story of Chinese bargaining between the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. has been carefully hushed up by the state department.

At one time during the China war the Chiang kai-Shek government was almost on its knees before the Soviet ambassador to patch up a deal with Russia—at the very same time it was yelling for aid from the U. S.

The hitherto untold story began nine months ago, September 1948, when the Soviet ambassador at Nanking suggested that the Nationalist government sign a nonaggression pact with Russia—including a highly important clause whereby, in case of Russo-American war, China would side with Russia.

The Chinese Nationalists stalled their reply. Meanwhile, Russian pressure increased in Manchuria. Finally, on Oct. 11, Chiang kai-Shek replied that China would accept a nonaggression pact provided it did not contain the clause putting China against the U. S. in the event of a Russo-American war.

News of this leaked back to Washington three days later, Oct. 14. But it was not until Oct. 17 that someone thought to inform the White House or else the White House woke up to the situation.

* * *

Truman Threatens.

At any rate, on Oct. 17 at 5:30 p. m., Presidential Assistant John Steelman phoned Gen. Al Wedemeyer, head of the war plans division, with the ultimatum that unless the President received a full report on sending war materials to the Nationalist government, the Pentagon building would be blown higher than a kite.

Supplies to China must start moving within two weeks, Mr. Steelman warned. The first ships actually left Nov. 16. But meanwhile, on Nov. 2, the Nationalists evacuated Manchuria.

Later, as the Chinese communists approached the Yangtze river, the Nationalist government decided to accept the Russian treaty overtures of last September. Suddenly Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Roschin was informed that China was willing to accept the nonaggression pact with no reservations whatsoever. It would even accept the clause against the U. S.

By this time, however, Russia had cooled. Knowing that victory was just around the corner anyway, Ambassador Roschin replied that there was no hurry.

* * *

Frantic Chinese.

BUT the nationalist government was now frantic. It informed the Russian ambassador that it was willing to sign anything—provided Gen. Mao Tse-Tung and his communist army was stopped. And the Chinese ambassador to the Kremlin went so far as to state that since the United States had betrayed China, the Nationalists were willing to make any kind of arrangement with communist leader Mao. They were even willing to enter a coalition government with Mao as prime minister.

Two years before, Gen. George Marshall had urged that Chiang kai-Shek form of coalition Chinese government with communist leaders in his cabinet, but with Chiang retaining control. Chiang had said no. But by spring of this year, the Nationalist government was so desperate it was even willing to accept its hated enemy, General Mao, as premier. This time it was the Russians who in effect said no.

* * *

Coy Soviet Ambassador.

LATEST stage of the frantic Nationalist attempts to make an alliance with Russia came last month after the government was moved to Canton. Once again Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh tried to draw the Russian ambassador into a discussion of a Nationalist-Soviet alliance. But once again the ambassador was Coy. Studiously he avoided all personal contact with the Nationalist leaders.

Premier Hu Ying-Ching then held an official reception to which all foreign envoys were invited, and the Russian ambassador was urged to come ahead of time for a conference.

He refused, however, on the ground that such action would cause unfavorable comment among the other diplomats.

Then he was asked to stay behind after the reception. This he also refused, for the same reason.

* * *

Ambassador Complains.

FINALLY Ambassador Rosch was told that unless he accepted this invitation tendered by the head of the Chinese government to come early to the reception, he would become persona non grata and his recall would be requested forthwith.

Roschin therefore finally agreed to arrive at 8 p. m. knowing that the premier had an appointment with the British ambassador at 8:45.

He actually arrived, however five minutes late, and without giving Premier Hu a chance to say a word, launched a long series of complaints about the fact that he had been in Canton since April, housed in lamentable quarters, and in all this time had not been able to get a telephone.

Communications, he said, were abominable. He had suffered great delay in receiving mail, the servant shortage was terrible, and the Chinese government, he demanded, should transport Russian servants to Canton.

The ambassador even demanded special visas for his servants, especially a chef, because Cantonese cooking, he said, was atrocious.

By the time Roschin had rattled off this stream of complaints, the British ambassador had arrived for his 8:45 appointment.

The Russian ambassador bowed out, having successfully avoided any conversation regarding a Chinese - Russian pact which by that time Moscow most emphatically did not want.

Now It's Square Dance

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — You can take the hay-shaker out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the hay-shaker.

This is one of those ersatz axioms to which New Yorkers, largely refugees from God's country, cling with the tenacity of a crazed leech. They are even ready to prove it the hard way, by embracing square dancing, one of the most lethal pastimes known to man and the reason many hay-shakers hit the highroad to the city in the first place.

A revival of back country rug-cutting is sweeping New York from stem to stern this season despite my deep-seated conviction that only mad dogs and city slickers do square dancing in the mid-summer heat.

I have just learned, chiefly for my own amazement, that thirty-five square dance callers are now making what I can only regard as a dubious living by plying their profession within the confines of New York City. Apparently it is a progressive mania, akin to the dance madness that gripped Europe in the middle ages.

Square dancing started in the public parks five seasons ago, under the sponsorship of a soft drink company.

But now this passion for bucolic jitter-bugging has seeped out of the parks and made a frontal assault on some of the city's more exclusive lobster palaces.

Them as can are welcome to do-si-do at the Stork club on Monday nights and in the Cotillion room at the elegant Pierre hotel, aficionados of the rural American flamenco can "swing her high, swing her low, swing her again and let her go" on Tuesday and Friday nights.

* * *

Rejected By Broadway.

THE SEASON on square dancing in the public parks of the five buroughs opens next week. Last summer, more than 560,000 New Yorkers swung their partners in the parks. It is estimated that a million will do a rural stomp this year while the caller hollers:

"Couple up two, buckle up four,

Circle left in the middle of the floor,

Do-do and a little more do,

Chicken in the bread pan, pickin' up dough,

With a high diddle-diddle and the cat in the fiddle,

One more change and down the middle."

New Yorkers, both native and naturalized, take to square dancing like a Disney duck to water, according to the two men in the best position to judge. They are Ed Durlacher, prexy of the Long Island Square Dance Callers' association, and Ralph Teffertel-ler, who learned to call in the Smoky mountains of East Tennessee, where he was borned.

Durlacher, who calls the dance in the city parks, and Teffertel-ler, who is program director of the famous Henry street settlement house and also caller for the Cotillion room hoe-downs, say the city slickers are real good in the country clinches.

After all, any one who can learn to slip a hip in the rumba, can learn to shake a shank in square sets, these two affirm.

The fiddlin' strains of "Comin' Round the Mountain," "Flop-Eared Mule," "Arkansas Traveler," "O, Susanna," "John Peel" and "Ole Joe Clark" are now almost as familiar to New Yorkers as the once civilized jungle beat of such rhumba rhythms as "Peanut Vendor," "Mama Inez" and "Brazilian Bogey."

The only section of New York that has rudely rejected the hay-shakers' gyrations is Broadway. Roseland, the huge and venerable dance emporium in the Times Square section, tried it out on their devotees over a three week period.

Roseland addicts would have none of this pastoral prance.

"Give it back to the Poor Lo," yelled the Roselanders, and the management did, although it had a tough time finding an Indian who could take it.

Farmer's Diary

Some Foxy Behavior

By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT WAS sultry yesterday, between showers. I walked along the border of the woods at the orchard edge, when I thought I saw a motion among the brambles and was sure I recognized a familiar, high-pitched bark.

I stopped and rolled under a low, umbrella - like oak shrub where a shallow bed of soft earth permitted me to be comfortable and I could peer out for some distance around.

Here, beneath this natural canopy of soft green leaves, I watched and waited. Farther up the slope, a fat woodchuck slid out from his open door and began to graze. Beyond the burrow of the Chuck stood a weathered flat stump. Atop this level space a fox sat.

When I first noticed him, he had swathed his lithe hind quarters with his soft red-brown brush and was posing contentedly, enjoying a lordly look far across the valley.

He saw the woodchuck's open door and seemed to realize that he had gone out for awhile, but would soon return. He twisted his neck peculiarly and emitted a strange gurgling sound, then with his tongue hanging out, he panted.

It was the female, and she knew just what was expected of her. Stealthily she crept down to the look-out of fresh raw earth heaped above the woodchuck's burrow.

Pretty soon Chuck came ambling toward home. When he saw the fox he backed up toward his open door, keeping his face to the enemy. Then the vixen nabbed him—from behind, before he knew what had happened.

The two foxes left the dead woodchuck upon his own doorstep and disappeared together. I had lain there so long that I gladly rolled out from the brush and went home, myself.

This morning, I observed that the foxes had dragged their victim away up the hill to a secret opening of their den deep among white thorns, greenbrier and brambles.

Most likely their hungry litter had feasted upon fresh meat soon after I went away and permitted Nature to take its course. One of the foxes passed so near me that I think he scented danger. I felt I had had a ringside seat at a bit of natural drama.

Shelby Seeking Extension of School Levies This Fall

Ask Voters To Complete Buildings

$255,000 Needed To Finish Projects

By JOHN E. PATRICK
(By State Correspondent)

SHELBY — Local voters will be asked this fall to continue the five-mill school operating levy so $255,000 may be provided for completion of building projects now under way. The levies now in effect expire in 1950 and the action is planned to assure no interruption, it was explained by J. A. Anderson, president of the Shelby School Board.

In 1945 a three-mill levy was passed for five years and in 1946 an additional two-mill levy was added for four years. The new plan would be a continuation of present levies without an additional tax burden.

According to Anderson the new Central school building cost is estimated at $330,000, while the Vocational Agricultural building is estimated at $48,000. To complete auditoriums in Auburn and Central schools means an added expenditure of $150,000.

Three years ago $600,000 in school bonds was approved and half of this amount is left without providing auditoriums for the new schools, Auderson reported.

Water Rates Over Minimum Increased By Shelby Council

SHELBY—Council here last night approved amendments to increase the water rate, effective on the Aaug. 1 billing. The minimum rate is $3.50 for a quarter of the first 800 cubic feet of water used. Under the new plan all over the minimum total will be charged at a rate of 26 cents per 100 cubic feet. The old rate was 21 cents per 100 cubic feet in excess of the minimum. Adjustments also will be made in the industrial rate.

Council also transferred $10,371.84 from the general fund to the fire equipment fund. This represented the one mill levy for fire equipment as provided for the first year of the three-year levy passed last year.

A resolution passed requesting the Richland county auditor to abate special assessments on Lots 2519 and 2520 in Parkwood drive. Another resolution authorized the mayor and director of public service to contact officials at the 831st Air Force Specialized Depot here regarding the possibility of installing light at its athletic field.

Another resolution authorized the mayor and director of public service to advertise for bids to purchase mowing equipment for North Broadway and Veteran park right of way.

Petitions acted upon last night were two requesting street improvements for street and curbing on Auburn street and near the new elementary school from Post street to Lots 2974 and 2975. One petition urged street and curb improvements be deferred on West Tucker avenue. Another asked improvements on Glenwood drive. The engineer was ordered to draw up plans on the street jobs.

Sue, I sure do miss you. And I admit I've been hard to take. But, hon, there was a reason for my mean disposition. I was "out of order" and depending upon harsh laxatives. Now you'd see a big change. Yes, I've found relief from constipation caused by lack of bulk in the diet—by eating right. Every day now, I have me a bowlful of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN and follow through by drinking plenty of water. Looking Through . . .

The Fashion Spy Glass

If your daughter's summer wardrobe gets to be a problem before the season even begins to get underway, here's an easy, inexpensive way to supplement it with a little home sewing.

If you've ever compared the cost of a summer cotton skirt with that of a yard and a half of cotton chambray, you'll know what we mean by "inexpensive".

Buy a yard and a half of cotton and seam it up one side. Then, run a basting stitch through the top of the material and slip yourself, (if it's for you) or your daughter inside the material. Pull the basting stitch until it fits the waist and pin down the pleats. Cut off a length of fabric about two and a half inches wide from the bottom of the skirt and make a waist band. This is done by sewing one side of the strip to the outside of the skirt and the other to the inside. Make your placket and hem and there you are.

You or your daughter can have a summer skirt for about $1.50. The cost will vary, of course, with the material you buy. After the skirt is finished you can add such fancy details as a pocket trimmed in eyelet and a small eyelet ruffle across the hem.

While we're on the subject of home sewing we want to mention the new rubber shoulder pad that is covered with a washable fabric and can be snapped in and out of every garment in your wardrobe.

The pad is one piece of rubber foam (cut to suit whichever style sleeve your dress has) covered in a rayon taffeta. The directions say it can be put right in the washing machine and we don't see why not as there's nothing in the pad to wad up or shrink.

It snaps in and out of your clothes by means of an accompanying gripper tape The tape, equipped with snaps corresponding to the snaps on the pad, is sewn into your dress. You may buy as many tapes as you like, for an extra $.10 a tape, and sew them into all your dresses.

Horoscope

For Wednesday, June 22

AN unpredictable state of affairs in which high stakes seem to be in the balance of a rather critical and probably spectacular situation, in which a complete reversal of plans and objectives, or a spading-up from accustomed places, environs or, as well, states of mind, are forecast. The die may be cast in constructive and vividly thrilling directions or in entirely disruptive and disappointing plunges in the wrong direction. Since there is a benevolently sustaining aspect, with "love and money" as the keynotes, it is advised that there be some reasonable time for reflection before taking the "fatal step." Count the cost.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves on the brink of vital, sensational and revolutionary decisions, the might of which involves the entire future, its fortunes, happiness and ultimate destiny. There is indication of a complete spading-up of environs, interests, associations and perhaps reversed viewpoint and mental outlook or philosophy. The denouement could be of breath-taking glamor, surprise, benefit or error, downfall and disappointment However, the prospect is for the more benefic finale, since love affection, glamor and romantic adventure are "sustaining programs" in this spectacular and sudden experience.

A child born on this day will have sudden and revolutionary adventures in life, perhaps happy and sensational drama.

Cooling Refreshments Are the Order For Your Porch or Yard Summer Party

"Make mine chocolate — but you have whatever you like " As the hostess, you can make this offer and really mean it because there's a way to serve ice cream sodas — any kind and as you like 'em — right on your own front porch. On a tea cart, put makings for several falvors: Chocolate, strawberry, pineapple. . . . . Each of the guests can select the syrup he likes best. The he stirs this in the bottom of the glass with a little ice cream or whipped cream, adds the soda water and a dipperful of ice cream. Then on top goes the final touch — a good, big spoonful of whipped cream.

The porch tea cart, if you have one is fine for soda making. You can wheel it so it's convenient for all. But if you have none, a table does nicely. A compartment tray for the various sauces and the whipped cream is a delight. But several dishes on a tray do the trick just as well A soda siphon fizzer used in the top of the bottle of soda water gives the novice a real finesse, but it, too, isn't a necessity. The ice cream soda will have good fizz if you merely pour the charged water into the glass.

The ice cream dipper is a fine gadget, and you'll find an inexpensive one worth its price many times over. You can get them in hardware or department stores. You'll use the dipper for professional looking sundaes, for serving mashed potatoes, potato salad and many other foods. But if you have none, simply spoon the ice cream into the soda.

No matter what equipment you have — or don t have — join the many families who are already serving sodas at home It's fun. Here are a few suggestions — try them out or concoct your own sodas:

SODA SUGGESTIONS

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM SODA: 3 tablespoons chocolate s rup, 1 tablespoon ice cream whipped cream or light cream, carbonated water, and 2 one-third cups (1-6 quart) chocolate or vanilla ice cream.

PINEAPPLE ICE CREAM SODA: 3 tablespoons crushed, well-sweetened fresh, frozen or canned pineapple, 1 tablespoon ice cream, whipped cream or light cream, carbonated water and 2 one-third cups (1-6 quart) vanilla ice cream.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM SODA: 4 tablespoons crushed well - sweetened fresh or frozen strawberries, 1 tablespoon ice cream, whipped cream or light cream, carbonated water and 2 one-third cups (1-6 quart) vanilla ice cream

Retailers Advised Business Conditions Basically Sound

NEW YORK — (AP) — The current business slump isn't over yet and the end is not in sight, retailers were told today, but basic conditions are sound.

That was the theme of many speakers at the mid-year merchandising convention of the national retail dry goods association.

Milton J. Greenbaum, vice president of Felix Lilienthal and company of New York said: "Basic market conditions are sound . . . Actual buying can be approached with a feeling of confidence.

"Manufacturers have prepared their new lines with the determination that through proper styling, proper manufacturing, and proper pricing the consumer must be attracted."

A. W. Zelomek, president of the International Statistical bureau of New York, in discussing one major segment of the retail business said: "Textiles have generally completed the first and most violent phase of the postwar readjustment."

He added: "Having had a lengthy head start upon the general business readjustment, the most thoroughly liquidated textiles can look forward to a fairly steady, if unsensational, replacement activity in many lines even while other industries are going through the wringer."

Louis J. Melicek, general merchandise manager of Crowley, Milner and company of Detroit, declared: "business isn't so bad. It's just that last year's dollar figures appear so colossal."

Q. F. Walker, economist of R. H. Macy and company of New York said it was obvious the high postwar rate of business expansion could not be maintained and that corrections would have to be made. "These corrections now have been underway for several months. They are spreading over a wider area. And the end is not yet in sight."

He added: "however, a very large part of the broad readjustment in prices of consumer goods has already taken place."
